My attention was called to a late end to rial to your paper commenting on an Easter day article in the N. Y. Tribune about Magdalenes, supposed to be from the gifted pen of Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis, formerly of your city. No doubt the article in question was inspired by a philanthropic and Christian woman's heart. Such feelings as are therein indicated are to man Easter day article in the N. Y. But my object in addressing these lines to the INTELLICENCER is to try to correct what seems to be an erroneous opinion in regard to her who, by so many, is esteemed to be the patron of reformed women of the class alluded to. It is much to be regretted that the misappropriation and misinterpretation of the honored and honorable name of Mary Magdalene, or Mary, of Magdala, of the Scriptures, should be made to represent that of wretched, fallen and abandoned women, even though they belong to the reformed among them. I know that both in Eulrope and this country there are large shospitals built by Catholies and Protestants which perpetuate this scandal, and that make the name of Magdalene to to represent her who hore it in the days of the Saviour as the sin-stained and psympathizing patron Saint of women of the class through all time and through the stall the world. preminent citizen living near this village, wretched, fallen and abandoned women, even though they belong to the reformed among them. I know that both in Europe and this country there are large hospitals built by Catholies and Protestants which perpetuate this scandal, and that make the name of Magdalene to represent her who bore it in the days of the Saviour as the sin-stained and sympathizing patron Saint of women of her class through all time and throughout all the world. It seems to me that this popular error should be corrected. The evidence of the scriptures and high critical authority is to the effect that Mary Magdalene was simply unfortunate, like many others (young and old, male and female) in laving been possessed by demons. No other imputation is laid to her charge. Nothing was more common in those days than these passessions. It was in this way that Mary Magdalene was fillicted and distressed. The Saviour cured her. See Luke, 8th hapter, 2d and 3d veraes. "And certain women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary, called Magdalene, out of whom had gone seven demone, and Johanna, the wife of Chuze.

The unique of the scriptures and the control of the scriptures and the severy attention. For thirty years he has occupied every hour in the days of the saviour cured her. See Luke, 8th women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary, called Magdalene, out of whom had gone seven demone, and Johanna, the wife of Chuze.

alleine, out of whom had gone seven de-mons, and Johanna, the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others who ministered to him of their substance." The various mentions made of Mary Magdalene show her to nave been a steadinst and devoted follower of the Saviour, and not in any sense a woman of soiled reputation. I refer to the last chapters of the book of Matthew. You will see that she is spoken of amongst the most honorable of women, and in company with the mother of Jesus. I maintain that Mary Magdalene was never at any time a woman of ill-fame, for the enemies of the Saviour would have confronted him with the fact. Dr. Adam Clark, the distinguished commentator, is strong in her favor as a woman of excellence, honorand piety, and wholly undeserving of the aspersions cast upon her. He says: "As well might Johanna and Susanna come in for a share with her, for they seem to have been dispossessed likewise by Jesus, as, according to linke's account of them, they had all infirmities (of what sort it is not said) and those infirmities were occasioned by Mary Magdalene show her to have een a steadfast and devoted follower and those infirmities were occasioned by evil spirits within them. Jesus healed them all. Mary Magdalene, by her be-havior and constant attendance on Jesus his life time, at his crucifixion, and at a grave, seems to have exceeded all the the grave, seems to have exceeded an the other women in duty and respect to his person." And again this distinguished commentator speaks of her thus: "There the is no doubt but that Mary Magdalene, both in character and circumstances was

While in the office of the National Cliass Company for a few minutes the other day, we witnessed a sight hard to believe. But if seeing is believing, we can't help but believe. Mr. Cash, the gentlemanly secretary, drove an eight penny nail through a board an inch and a half thick with a glass chimney. This was the fourth nail that had been driven with the same chimney. If this doesn't surpass anything that has ever been done with a glass lamp chimney, we'd like to witness anything that will beat it.]
The Cambridge Jefersonian, in speaking of this favorite little Bellaire weapon, makes the following observation:

makes the following observation:
"The experiments of the Bellaire glass The experiments of the Bellaire glass works, in making toughened glass under a new process proved its utility. Lamp chimneys will hereafter be made in this way. They may be thrown on the floor, or subjected to great heat or change of temperature, without breaking; but when they do break the pieces fly in all directions."

What Congress is About to Do in the Way of Business. Washington, D. C., April 28.—At last matters in Congress have got into such a shape that we may expect some business from the House of Representatives. The Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill has passed the House. It makes heavy reductions in salaries and contingent funds. It encountered all the opposition the thousands of clerks in the partments here and the heads of departments and Bureaus could bring to pear. It has been held back a long time be plain sailing, except upon the Omni-bus Bill, which will take about two weeks, and there is a strong disposition on the part of the House to avoid a dead lock be-tween the two Houses and get away from here if possible by the 4th of July. Still, matters have not progressed with ade-gree of rapidity that would warrant the prediction of an adjournment before the late of Accept. 1st of August.

The unfortunate man is over eighty years of age. He is tall and apparently in the best of physical health. His hair and beard are of extraordinary length. He keeps his person and apartment neat and clean, but allows no one to approach him. He will not engage in conversation, his whole attention being given to his incessant devotions.

R. V. PIRROE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:—I wish to add my testimony to the wonderful curative properties of your Alt. Ext., or Golden Medical Discovers. I have taken great interest in this medicine since I fars used it. I was badly allicted with dyspepsia, liver deranged and an almost perfect prostration of the nervous system. So rapid and complete did the Discovery effect a perfect cure that it seemed more like music and a perfect wonder to inyself, and since that flue we have never been without a bottle of the Discovery and Purgative Pel-lets in the house. They are a solid, sound family physician in the house and ready at commentator speaks of her thus: "There is no doubt but that Mary Magdalene, both in character and circumstances was a woman of good reputation and high standing in society. She is mentioned by the Evangelists as being one of those women who followed our Savior to minister to him, according to the custom of the Jews. She attended him in his last journey from Gallilee to Jerusalem, and was at the foot of the cross with the Holy Virgin (John 19th, 25th and Mark 16th, 4 and 5th) after which she returned to Jerusalem to buy and prepare with others certain perfumes that she might embalm him after the Sabbath was over, which was then about to begin."

With these remarks and citations I leave the character of this excellent woman in the hands of your readers for further investigation, according asshey may have leisure to read the Scriptures and the notes of good authorities concerning her. They will find many Marys mentioned in the Sac red text, and must be careful to note the circumstances under which they are seyerally alluded to. In this sort of profit able study they will find no antecedents of a dishonorable character attaching to the name of Mary Magdalene.

With thanks for this space in your columns, I am Very Truly, MRS. ALEXANDER CANTIBELL.

on the calendar. It seems quite probable that the next three weeks will see a good deal of business done, and that the Senate will have plenty of work before it, unless the House shall go in on the Tariff Bill and discuss it section by section. There is every reason to believe that party policy will have a good deal to do with the tariff, and that when it is discussed the discussion will be protracted.

A great load has been lifted from the minds of a majority of the members of the House by the passage of the Legislative Appropriation Bill, because it opens the way for earnest consideration of incidental business that has occurred to every Congress before. If they get the Indian matter fixed (and it has gone to the Senate for action), then the adjustment of alfairs between the War and the Indian Departments will perhaps take only about two weeks. Then will come the Navy appropriation thatcan be dismissed easily in a week. After that there will be plain sailing, except upon the Omnibus Bill, which will take about two weeks.
